CLAIM LICENSE PETITION WAS ILLEGALLY SIGNED
Liquor Interests Dispute Signatures and Right of Some to Sign.

Is the petition for a vote on the license question in the town of Willimantic legal? Representatives of the liquor association say that it is not, since they claim that several of the names were not written by the persons whose signatures it was supposed that they were and that some of the names have no place on the voting list. This is true, no vote can be taken at this election, since only one of these claims, if true, would make the document illegal and if some of the names are taken off, the list, which contains 289 names, will not have the required 268. Several signers have asked to withdraw their names claiming they did not know what they were signing, but this is impossible.

PLAINFIELD

Lucius Exley Unearths 1811 Coin—Freshman Class Organizes—Theodore Marriott Enlists, as Have Father and Two Brothers.

Mrs. Harold Lawton and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Butterworth, have returned after a week's auto trip through the White Mountains. Daniel Connell drove the party.
Finds 1811 Coin.
Among the curios possessed by Lucius Exley is a penny, coined in 1801. Friday morning Mr. Exley noticed a dark piece of metal while working in his corn field and after examining it, it proved to be an old coin. Although probably buried for many years the inscriptions upon it are as legible as when new. It is almost the size of a half dollar in circumference and as thick. Mr. Exley was showing it to many of his friends about town on Friday.

Freshman Class Officers.
The Freshman class in Plainfield High School organized Friday at the school building, and elected these officers for the coming year. President, Dona Codere; vice president, Maice Levey; secretary, Miss Florence Vere; treasurer, Roy Byers. Richard Daggett, president of the Senior class, was elected to enable the class to organize as a body.

THIRD SON FOLLOWS FATHER AND BROTHERS.
Theodore Marriott joins The Canadian Militia, After Rejection in America.
Theodore Marriott, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marriott enlisted recently in the Scottish Kilts and is now in Canada in training. He is in the same company as Walter Platt, another local lad, who enlisted in that branch of the service. Mr. Marriott's father is in the sergeant in the ambulance corps of the Canadian army and recently returned to camp after spending some months' furlough at his home here. While here he gave two interesting lectures about the war as he has seen it.

Theodore Marriott's two brothers, Albert and Frederick, are in Uncle Sam's service, Albert being in the navy on board the U. S. S. Chester, and Frederick in the army stationed at Syracuse, N. Y.
Theodore endeavored to enlist in Uncle Sam's service but was rejected because of defective vision.
"Action counts more than words," Mr. Marriott was heard to exclaim, while here on furlough, in speaking of patriotism and loyalty to one's country. The father enlisted in the Canadian army to fight for his native country, brought his spirit of patriotism into evidence, when he was drafted. When he enlisted he was 48 years of age and could have been exempted if he so wished, but the fighting spirit, which ran in the blood of his ancestors, swayed him forward and made him one of England's fighting men. That same fighting spirit is in the blood of his three sons as they have willingly left to go and fight and stand in the front line with the country's defenders.

This war has broken up their happy family, and now their remaining home only Mrs. Edward Marriott and her youngest children, Margaret, 14, and George, 12.

Furniture of Taste and Elegance

Your furniture should show taste and elegance in order to be really proud of it. But that doesn't mean that you should spend any more money than you can afford for it. It merely means exercising the right kind of taste and going to a furniture store that makes a specialty of buying right—RIGHT furniture at the RIGHT price.

If there is one thing this firm is more proud of than anything else, it is the fact that we buy better quality furniture, lower than our competitors. Our years of training have taught us sagacity and foresight, and it is these low prices on good quality furniture that we pass on to our customers.
